Time Seen by MD: 12:43Chief complaint: chest pain

This is a 33-year-old female with a history of pericardial effusions, diabetic gastroparesis, end-stage renal disease on hemodialysis three times a week at Satellite Rohnert Park, hypertension, type 2 diabetes mellitus with end-organ damage, diabetic retinopathy, and diabetic nephropathy who presents to the ED for chest pain. The patient reports a one week history of midsternal chest pain radiating to her back. The pain has been getting progressively worse with no relief with Norco. Associated symptoms include shortness of breath, nausea, vomiting, and one episode of diarrhea. Patient was last dialyzed on Saturday for three hours. There has been no recent fevers, rhinorrhea, or sore throat but she does note a cough. The patient states that her pain is 10/10 and feels similar to her prior pericardial effusions.
